Details: Each human story in each song of Dave Stauffers Girl Scenes album is taken from the dramatic story in one of the musical screenplays of Dave Stauffers seven-movie screenplay series, Sow Yoats! In the seven related stories, the same characters are followed from the age of six to their middle age in many dramatic, insightful, religious, romantic, and sexy subplots. The seven screenplays incorporate about eighty original songs that Dave Stauffer has written, and his talented band of singers and musicians has recorded. The plots have a lot to do with dating, maturing, and philosophy dealing with God and so do the songs they sing. In several of the songs, the singers speak their lines in or during the song, which adds a deep meaning to the words of the songs. By listening to the words and the mood of the music, each listener can feel the emotion of the dramatic event that the song describes in the screenplay. To write his songs, Dave Stauffer has drawn on his many years of singing in church choirs as well as his years of singing, playing bass and guitar, and writing songs in several rock and roll bands that played for years in smoky bars and taverns. Along the way, he acquired a community of outstanding singers and musicians to record his harmonious songs. 1. I Am The Show. A song sung by Tina Purdy as her character does a strip dance in a nudie bar. The song is featured in Stauffers rock opera, Wedded Bliss, at both the beginning and the end. The lyrics are what the stripper thinks to herself as she watches the men watching her. 2. Lets Go! A group of cheerleaders at a wrestling match sing this song as they prepare for the match to start in Stauffers rock opera, The Snare. 3. Ooh To Get Married! Pre-adolescent girls (including Laura Stauffer) sing in Stauffers rock opera, The Birds and The BeesUpdated. 4. You Will Be Mine! A determined heroine (Tina Purdy) sings this song in both The Snare and Three WeddingsTwo The Hard Way. 5. Crossroads of Love-Girl In The Birds and The BeesUpdated, a young girl (Angie Meadows) ponders about whether she has found the boy she wants as her boyfriend. 6. Catch A Wave In The Snare, a young boy takes up surfing to impress beach bunnies (Tina Purdy and Laura Stauffer). The song includes the comments of the beach bunnies on his escapade. 7.
