Details: Elissa Franceschi is a 21 year-old hailing from the suburbs of London and a powerful artist in the making. Fed on a sumptuous and varied diet of Stevie Wonder, Elton John, Eric Clapton and Joni Mitchell (to name a fractured few) by her music fanatic parents, Elissa began teaching herself piano at age six. She wrote her first song at ten. Through her teenage years, Elissa has blended those early influences and forged them into her own unique style. Along the way, she has continued absorbing the genius of Jeff Buckley, John Mayer and others. She now stands on the threshold of a stellar career, having evolved into a hot new talent on the singer songwriter scene. Having played all of the notorious London Venues (Notably, The Bedford, Sound, Regal Rooms, Cobden Club, Notting Hill Arts Centre and the Astoria and Roundhouse) and then relocating to Brighton to complete a degree in English Literature, Elissa took to Brighton music scene by storm quickly earning herself a reputation as, That rare degree of raw talent who can create a pin-drop silence in a noisy packed pub of punters who simply cant resist that voice, knowing they are present in the making of a star. Today, Elissa continues to write songs that transport us to that wondrous place youve never been before but where your soul feels at home. In an age of throwaway songwriting, Elissas classic and stirring melodies evoke ageless values of craftsmanship. Blending evocative and honest lyrics with her delicate, yet powerful and soulful voice this girl sets a venue alight when she performs.
