But in a world of endless contradictions, I think they're the things we really wish were true. This collection of songs looks at deception, despair, unrequited love, loneliness, frustration, and other fun-filled themes, but most of all, it's about hope and life. Maybe it will make you think. Maybe it will make you want to dance. But hopefully, it will make you want to play the songs over and over again because some of the themes and stories have touched you and made you feel good.
