if the brothers grimm grew up listening to experimental electronic music from the late 90's they might write songs like this. 15 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Experimental, ELECTRONIC: Down Tempo Details: Being raised by Arthur Rackham proved to have a strong impact on my adult life. Although he strictly forbade my fascination in the booming electronic scene of the early 90's, he was tremendously supportive of my interest in composing for the Isophic Strands Orchestra, which played at the local theatre house. Luckily for me, the director of said theatre was sympathetic to my passion, and was all too happy to supply me with his finest selections of contemporary electronic music. Slowly I began to formulate principals and methods by which I too could compose for such instruments. Because of Arthur's furious temper, I was forced to conduct all of my works for the legendary "J.C.N. Intelligence Based Hyper-processor and Sound Module" in complete secrecy. The results of this project can be heard on my latest self titled album.
