SINGER/SONGWRITER POP 9 MP3 Songs POP: Today's Top 40, POP: Folky Pop Details: Press Release Fall 2006 Jill Walsh: debut release September 1 Jill Walsh is from Portland, Oregon and is currently living in Nashville, TN. She moved to Nashville in 2005 after living in NYC as a successful performing singer/songwriter. Jill is a modern songwriter with a gift for beautiful melodies and a voice as pure as the Pacific Northwest. Her lyrics draw listeners in and lend a sense of comfort. Backed by some of New York's and Nashville's finest musicians, Jill brings a sense of musicianship and integrity that is sometimes missing in today's music. A musician since the age of four, Jill has shared the stage and studio with Shawn Colvin, Jessica Simpson and she is featured on the top 5 single (BBC Radio 1) "Breathe", which is from the album Nightbird by Erasure. The album was produced by Steve Walsh who's credits include productions with Erasure, Fil Izler, and Amy Atchley. The record was mixed in Nashville by Jason Lehning (Guster, Allison Krauss). She was also involved in their latest CD, "Union Street", where she is featured in a vocal only 're-arrangement' of the song "Rock Me Gently". She recently completed a tour with Erasure for their Union Street CD where she sang backup vocals, played autoharp (a la The Carter Family), penny whistle, and melodica. She says, "the best experience of the tour was getting to play in Nashville at the revered Ryman. There's so much history there that you can just feel it seeping into you as you play." Her debut CD "Jill Walsh" was mixed in Nashville by Jason Lehning (Guster, Allison Krauss). The final song on her CD, "Small Place", is a devastating ballad which is about her father, who died of AIDS. This song frequently moves people in Jill's live shows as well as in this cinematic setting. The tongue-in-cheek "Big Man" is an ode to men of all 'sizes'. The haunting "Falling Into You" stays with you long after it's over. And "Fearless" is featured in the film "The Deal", starring Christian Slater and Selma Blair. Tuck these songs into your pocket and let them comfort, humor, and move you.
