Judging by only the name given to this young music minister, one might not be exactly sure what to expect. The season has arrived for this promising talent who is embarking on journey of ministry and music with a message of love and adoration toward Jesus Christ. Substance is a valuable addition to the steady genre of Gospel Hip-Hop. With his debut album "Choose a Side" now in stores as of March 05', he will be introduced to many as pure lyricist armed with both rhyme and singing vocals. Over the past seven years Substance has earned a performance resume that rivals even some of the most successful artists in music today. Substance had shared the stage with many major international acts before being led to sing Christian music, and most recently has opened of such notables as: Out of Eden, Donnie McKlurkin, and Ben Tankard. Substance has also been a special guest on "Let's Talk Church" with host Dr. Bobby Jones. Unlike many young artists who chase after the major contract, Substance has traveled the road of artist development. In doing so, he has invested countless hours both on stage and in the studio. Through a natural growth he has been able to work behind other artists in music production. As a writer/producer/artist Substance is the appreciative owner of a recording studio where he has spent years developing and capturing a unique sound that is both lyrically and musically magnetic. Mostly known for his sincere passion for The Lord, and his ability to reflect this passion for Jesus Christ, Substance has in a short time developed a committed following that crosses genres from Gospel Hip Hop to Gospel Contemporary. Musically inclined, lyrically complete, and approachable. A true artist, that a listener can both feel and listen to at the same time. Substance.
