

500 Articles - Awesome Website Content - Wide Variety

I don't want to sound like I'm a broken record here, but again I'll say that the basis of a long-term VRE website is good content, and you need to provide unique content that your visitors will find some value in. That's the reason I didn't want to go to the extreme by providing thousands of articles (which might give you the wrong idea). At the same time, I do want to get you started launching your sites as soon as possible, which is why I've included some PLR content to get you going. Instead of quantity, I've focused on quality. I hired a team of professional writers to write 500 PLR articles pertaining to the niche topics that we've included in this package (5 articles for each of the 100 topics). This is not regurgitated junk that you've seen floating around the web. These articles were written specifically for this package, and they have never been released before. In keeping with the theme of flexibility, I've taken it a step further by providing every article in THREE formats. This is something I have never seen any article provider do before. The three formats include... # Plain text file # HTML file # HyperVRE format Again, the reason I'm doing this is to provide flexibility. The plain text is obviously easy to work with, cut and paste into other applications, etc. Additionally, most page generation software uses text files. The HTML articles are ready to be copied and pasted directly into your web pages; no formatting required. Another application would be to simply change the HTML file extension to SHTML or PHP, and then you could put them into a directory and use an "include" script to have them rotated or randomly served on your pages. Lastly, I included HyperVRE articles so that you can use them with the HyperVRE software. The software requires certain "tags" in the article files in order to import articles in bulk from your computer, and these ones are ready to use. How long would it take you to write 500 pages of content? Or how much would it cost to outsource it? I can tell you that I personally paid several thousand dollars just to have these articles written.
