Jazz world fusion 10 MP3 Songs JAZZ: World Fusion, JAZZ: Free Jazz Details: Hadouk is a word composed of : Ha jouj - an African three stringed bass, played by the Gnawas from Morocco - and Doudouk - an Armenian double-reed instrument. They use both of these instruments in a very personal way. . Other instruments are / bamboo flutes, bamboo clarinet, ocarinas, Ukrainian double-flute, soprano saxophone, kora, bolong, sanza, a touch of synth and percussions, Steve Shehan on one number. The inspiration is based on nature simplicity and feeling. The result is yet another adventurous musical journey, quietly couched in simple melodies and structures. In 1999 Hadouk is Released in the States on Zebra Acoustic " Didier delves deeper into his unique Malherbian cosmos with fellow travellers. A host of unfamiliar instruments are on display. You know what these are?:- Guimbarde, Hajouj , Aouicha, Bolong, Sanza-m'bira, Sapilka, Pekou, Kaval and the Doudouk ! Anyway they all seem to make wonderful noises in the expert hands of Didier Loy. I assume track seven, 'Montaulieu' is inspired by the place of the same name in France. Where long ago one of the first versions of Gong used to gather round the fire pit and make music under the stars and where Dr Mishra had his 'ashram'. Didier does not stay still for long, the series of CDs Fetish, Zeff, Fluvius and now Hadouk are all different but the spirit of adventure, melodies and the general ambience are all just wonderfully Didier. Warmly recommended. " Tim Flatus
