The fifth CD from the UK duo, featuring the epic Continental Drift and the amazing Terminal Runner featuring Dave Meredith aka Mezzner 10 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Dance, ELECTRONIC: Ambient

Details: Biography Remergence have been writing music since 1997 and to date have written five albums, the style of music ranges from ambient through to dance, a lot of inspiration for the music comes from those around and things that happen from day to day. Remergence has been described in the past as a mixture of ambient, anthropological, chillout, dance modern electronica. The long awaited follow up CD to "Wide Open Space", "Standing in the Shadows" includes the track "Terminal Runner" which was a great collaboration between Remergence and Dave Meredith aka Mezzner. The CD also includes the epic "Continental Drift" running at just over 21 minutes, the track that has had more downloads on the net than any of our other tracks, "Continental Drift" is not so much one piece of music but rather a track that is entwined with some of our other unreleased work to produce a powerful piece of music that keeps them toes a tapping. Reviews: "Awesome music indeed. I recommended it highly!!!" - OOZ "... very nice work. It builds and builds without limit keeping focus while all the while getting more complex" - Ed Drury "Well produced... Nice Fx and Vocal samples ... The bass is pretty awesome" - Soundfreak "Very nicely done! ... production is great ... songs are not repetitive! I like that! It stays interesting all the way through" - Ashley Garland "Well arranged well produced" - MRDC "This is a complex sound that builds gradually, I love the synths that kick in as the song progresses, just right - subtle!" - Jon Zero
