AllDay Radio uses traditional acoustic instrumentation to uniquely combine modern pop, traditional folk, and jazz swing. 9 MP3 Songs POP: Folkly Pop, COUNTRY: Bluegrass Details: AllDay Radio utilizes traditional acoustic instrumentation while uniquely combining elements of modern pop, folk, and jazz swing. The band was co-founded in San Francisco by songwriter/singer Robby Hecht and songwriter/multi-instrumentalist Jason Jurzak. Robby Hecht, heavily influenced by both soul and early-middle folk music, has been recognized for his performing and writing by numerous organizations including the National Poetry Association, The UK Song Contest, American Songwriter Magazine, and Singer Universe Magazine. Jason Jurzak, raised on Django-jazz, funk, and pop, plays a variety of instruments, highlighted by his work on the string bass, tuba, and guitar. He has played with numerous West Coast and New Orleans bands including Bonerama, Samantha and the Ritual, and Chris Cotton. The duos co-writing has received honors from and been praised by the Dallas Songwriters Association, The International Songwriting Competition, and the Independent Music Awards. In addition to its founding members, AllDay Radio includes fiddle and mandolin prodigy Eva Scow, who, at just seventeen years of age, has worked with mandolin legends David Grisman and Mike Marshall, as well as with Diana Krall guitarist Anthony Wilson. Eva is incredible, says Marshall. She tears up all the classic tunes and can improvise with the best it is very rare indeed. AllDay Radio also currently features accomplished flamenco/jazz fusion guitarist Dusty Brough, who has performed regularly with the San Diego band Cerro Negro, and with renowned flamenco master Jesse Cook. Members of AllDay Radio have performed at many of San Francisco's top venues including The Great American Music Hall, The Fillmore, The Boom Boom Room, Biscuits and Blues, and The Red Devil Lounge, as well as Carnegies Zankel Hall, and numerous music festivals including the High Sierra, Helena, and Cedar Basin Jazz Festivals.
