The definitive Commodore 64 music remix CD, now completely retro itself, and back for the Digital age. 15 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Experimental, ELECTRONIC: Soundscapes Details: Back in Time was released in 1998 as a tribute to the composers who produced game music for the Commodore 64 Home Computer during its heyday. Oddly, the supposedly disposable music for these games stuck in the heads of the game players of the time, and surfaced again in the mid 90s when musicians started to rerecord the tracks, adding themselves into it at the same time. This CD started a process of musical discovery which culminated in live performances of this music at prestige locations such as the Brighton Centre, Gossips Nightclub in Soho, and St. Luke's LSO.
