Stefan Mitchell delivers a rich, multi-dimensional vocal style that inspires and connects fans with their faith. This self-taught musician began as a drummer with only one goal in mind - to play for the love of it. But when you possess an undeniable vocal ability matched only by a knack for weaving lyrical tapestries, the response is, "You were made to do this." Nowhere is this proclamation more evident than on his Exact Records release Perfect Mystery. Co-written and produced by the critically acclaimed songwriter Jonathan Kingham (Cindy Morgan, Glen Phillips), Perfect Mystery takes the listener to a deeper level of understanding about God, themselves and the world around them. The songs have a contemporary pop rock sound and a singer/songwriter intimacy. Stand out tracks like Lean into Me and I Am Here offer reassurance of an unyielding love where others like It Was Good and Remember to Breathe reminds us of the beauty around us. A culturally diverse upbringing found Stefan living in places as varied as Maryland and Turkey, and a host of other countries in between. It was after Stefan moved to Seattle that he developed a taste for performing while landing film, television, and theater roles. His vocal "gift" came to the forefront when he volunteered at Camp Rainbow Gold in Boise, Idaho, a camp for children with cancer. Stefan sang at Rainbow Gold's campfires, which lead to Wish Boats and Love Knots, an album he recorded especially for the camp. That record prompted Stefan to record his first solo recording, From Within. Since its release Stefan has been performing across the country at churches, conferences, theaters, and opera houses as a featured artist or as a guest. Recent performances of note include Creation Festival 2005, RSI Asilomar Conference 2005 and guest spots with speakers like

Marianne Williamson, David Ault and Edwene Gaines. His performances are consistently leaving audiences awe-struck and inspired. To listen to Stefan is to have heard God. Rev. David Bruner, San Jose CSL Stefan pours his soul into singing and songwriting. When Stefan sings, he prays, he blesses, and he amazes his audience through inspirational words and a voice that reaches beyond this realm. Listening to him is a transformative experience. Karen Lindvig, Minister, Seattle Unity Stefan Mitchell is inspiring. Not only is his musicianship excellent, but his message is refreshing for today's spiritually minded seekers evoking an atmosphere of reverence and prayerful contemplation. Rev. Edward Viljoen, Santa Sosa CSL I love the music of Stefan Mitchell. He's one of my very favorite singers. Not only does he have a great voice, a great talent, but a huge heart that he shares with everyone. You can't listen to Stefan sing without being touched at a deep level. Rev. Dr. Kathianne Lewis, Senior Minister, Center for Spiritual Living, Seattle Multi-talented and genuine, exceptionally creative and passionate - that's Stefan Mitchell.
