Details: A Lesson On Romance has in all reality existed in my mind for as long as I can remember. I have always been infatuated with the thought of Romance. So the next obvious step for me was to write it down in the only language that is capable of translating the idea, the thought, the fantasy, and the world of Romance. Needless to say it was an obvious step but it proved itself to be a tedious one indeed. A Burning Bridge To Pass: Early on in the year of 2007 the smaller joints within my feet and hands started to give me a good amount of discomfort. I shrugged it off with the notion that it would eventually go away. Time passed, and as it did my symptoms strengthened. Soon after a various number of scheduled appointments with my family Dr. I was referred to a Rheumatologist. My diagnosis was Rheumatoid Arthritis, commonly known as R.A. Devastating news to say the least - after all - I am a composer / pianist. However disconcerting that diagnosis was, it set me on a path full of passion and creativity. I had to prove to myself that I was mature enough to be a competent composer. I had to prove to myself that I Kendell Linh Healy was not going to allow a disease to burn a bridge that I had to pass. Through this process I grew, I matured and most importantly I began to have conversations through music with God. A Lesson On Romance Is Born: I feel peaceful now that these works are in their completion. The process was challenging. During my flare ups I would compose and in times of release I would record my compositions. During my writings I was in complete solitude and away from the world. My Neverland so to speak. My time with God, listening, writing down what was dictated to me through the voices within my heart, my mind and soul. I feel honored and blessed that I am competent enough to provide my name as the composer of these works.
