Her concept for these songs come from the trials of life. The world is changing so quickly but, the trials of life are still the same. Who's doing what to whom, while trying to hold on to what they've got. The song 'Steve' is about a woman telling hee man that she's tired of going through the same changes and is contemplating venturing out herself so she try to explain to him one more time before she walks out the door to get his act together. 'Why' is about people living in the same relationship, but, lies are being told from both sides, you're doing one thing, but, you're saying something completely different from what you're doing. These songs are about life experiences and everybody has something to say about it. So just listen to the music and you too will understand.
