Details: Warren O'Neill is a musician who hails from Melbourne, Australia. He has played with a number of successful local bands including Naked Soul, Monkey Stone and played Osama Van Halen in the political parody band New Horizons In Violence. He has also done work as a session player for various acts and studios and has toured parts of Australia. The album Dreamspell is Warren's first venture into instrumental acoustic based music. It is more of a relaxed nature and is really intended to be something that calms the nerves and soothes the soul and works fantastically at creating a peaceful atmosphere. As the name suggests, the album can also act as a lullaby and can be an elixir for insomniacs, lulling them into a dream state. Primarily an Electric guitarist this album shows Warren's acoustic side and he also plays several other instruments on the album. He also recorded, mixed, produced and mastered the CD himself so the final statement is purely the vision of the artist. We hope you enjoy this CD. It is suitable for people of all ages, young and old. It is the perfect companion for relaxation, dinner parties or lazing around on a quiet Sunday Afternoon. An Aural Oasis in a hectic world. Enjoy.
