

Reforming Learning

DOWNLOAD HERE

Preface- Acknowledgements- Notes on Contributors- Part 1: Introduction- Reforming learning in the Asia Pacific region: An Introduction- Chi-hung Ng- Exploring the linkage between reforms and learning in the Asia-Pacific region: An Activity Theory perspective - Chi-hung Ng - Part 2: Focusing on Tools, Transformation and New Learning - Reforming mathematics education: Theorising teachers and students use of technology- Merrilyn Goos- Reforming learning and teaching through online collaborative knowledge building - Allan H. K. Yuen, Nicol H. C. Pan and Chi-hung Ng - Technological barrier to learning: Designing hybrid pedagogy to minimise cognitive load and maximise understanding - Mark Bahr & Nan Bahr- An examination of the project work initiative: A reflection on Singapore's education reform - Ann Yeong & Pak Tee Ng- Crafting a total learning environment: Case studies of multimodality and task design in two Singapore science classrooms - Philip Towndrow, Ole. C. Brudvik, and Uma Natarajan- Reforming teaching and learning using theory of multiple intelligences in Macao schools - Kwok-Cheung Cheung- Makabayan in the Philippine basic education curriculum - Allan Bernadon & Rizalyn, J. Mendoza- Reforming medium of instruction in Hong Kong: Its impact on learning Anita Poon- Part 3: Focusing on Contradiction, Tension and Systemic Change - Problems and the direction of reform for education in Japan today - Kimiharu Sato- "Learning for achievement" as a collective motive in re-culturing teaching and learning in Hong Kong classrooms - Chi-hung Ng- Motivational implications of the Quality Teaching Model in New South Wales - Jennifer Archer- Reforming learning for children with learning differences in New Zealand - Kathleen A. Liberty- Pedagogical innovations as systemic change: The challenge of sustainability and transferability - Nancy Law- Successful approaches to innovation that have impacted on student learning in New Zealand Helen Timperley, Brian Annan & Viviane M. J. Robinson EAN/ISBN : 9781402030246 Publisher(s): Springer Netherlands Format: ePub/PDF Author(s): Maclean, Rupert - Watanabe, Ryo - Ng, Chi-hung

DOWNLOAD HERE

Similar manuals: