By March, the former Chevron Girl/Girlfriend in a Coma/Lonely as America frontman had a brand new band. The Overdubs play a particular, unique brand of homemade indie rock that's part lo-fi fever dream and part americana hootenanny. "here is where we are" is a collection of songs recorded between 2002-2006. nearly all of them are home-recorded so they have that crazed, red-eyed, intimate feel. I am proud of all of them. I can't say for sure when the record will be available on digital music services like itunes and rhapsody but it will eventually be on there. until then, we are going to release it for sale through cdbaby. The first few copies of this record are on cdr, though we plan to raise the money for a proper run of 1000 copies. currently, we have to eat. if you're reading this, thanks for your patience and support.
