Lyric rich western folk/country where stories burn around the fire. 12 MP3 Songs COUNTRY: Country Folk, COUNTRY: Western Details: Dave Munsicks music captures the spirit of the people both harmonically and humanistically. He is an exemplary songwriter. Michael Martin Murphey Wyomings been keeping a secret, mostly hidden in the folds of the Big Horn Mountains. The secret lies in the way that the connective power of Dave Munsicks music ties to the echoes of the land, lore and life of the west. Dave has a long history of living life to its fullest, working from Mexico to Canada at occupations that have kept him close to the land and its people. His rich life and lyrical melodies allow listeners to be captured into the times and the places of which he sings. He has written scores of songs, themes for plays, and produced 4 cds of his songs, BINGO, BUCKAROO BALL, TOO MANY HORSES, and OLD WOOD. He has also made several history and science educational music videos. In addition to his recording career, he has opened for or performed on fiddle, piano, and guitar for artists including Chris LeDoux, Hank Thompson, Ian Tyson, Darrell McCall and Johnny Bush. Dave gives song writing workshops, arranges music for his band, the Powder River Boys, has had his music played on television, U.S. and European radio stations, and been reviewed in Western Horseman, Rope Burns, and Cowboy magazines. OLD WOOD showcases Dave's writing, singing, playing, and production talents. It highlights songs with subject matter and arrangements that run from a haunting mountain style melody depicting an old cowman's discovery of place, to country shuffles and tightly arranged, deep seated ballads. This cd is sure to become an old friend.
