Details: Born in Trinidad, Janny Poppo spent his first years surrounded by the sounds of Caribbean music. From soca to reggae, from dancehall to chutney, but Hip-Hop took over when his family decided to move to Detroit MI in the United-States in the mid 80s and later, Canada in 1997. Janny quickly embraced this new urban musical revolution that was sweeping Mid West America and at the age of 12 he was in a rap group called LSD based in Lansing MI. His great free-styling ability was what landed him a spot in this group. For the next 4 years he worked on his craft. Freestyling in his room, on the way to school, in ciphers and in his high-school cafeteria. Living in different environments and having being influenced by a variety of musical genres makes Janny Poppo a different type of rapper. His delivery, his wordplays, his swagger, his energy, his stage presence and his voice give him the edge to separate himself from the rest of the up and coming emcees. Over the years, Janny Poppo has showcased his talent in many stage shows and other performances. He has shared the stage with acts such as, Kris Kross, The Lost Boyz, Slum Village, Too Short, Murphy Lee, Do or Die, Jeru the Damaja, The Pharcyde and The Luniz just to name a few. Janny Poppo is signed to Qryptonik Records and is now ready with his self titled debut album Janny Poppo. His lyrical influences are Dayton Family, Crime Boss, Eightball and MJG, Too Short, 2pac, Biggie Smalls and Nelly. His style is a direct reflection of the places he has lived throughout his life, which combines his Caribbean heritage, Mid-West America and Canada. Janny makes music that people can relate to. As he himself says, "Good songs lasts a minute but great songs lasts forever".
