DOMAIN STALKER There are hundreds of domain names expiring every day. For one reason or another people give up on their sites -- they've lost interest, or because of current situation with advertising on Internet they can't afford to pay for hosting, or maybe they simply didn't renew their registration in time. But old links from other sites are still there. In fact, some expired domains have thousands of old links still pointing to them. It's a shame that all this traffic is going nowhere. Webmasters work hard to get links on other popular sites, and here we have hundreds and hundreds of old links pointing nowhere. Wouldn't it be great to be able to find those expired domain names with great link popularity, simply register it, and get hundreds of unique visitors practically for free? This handy CGI Script which probes Internic for domains on hold status. Intuitive browser based point and click interface allows you to use keywords to scan for domains about to drop or that have recently dropped. Stores domain name lists in flatfile format so you can easily interface with our AUTONIC domain registration bot. You can also manually just click on the domain name to register quickly through network solutions. Another greatly useful feature is the ability to scan each domain name for search engine links.
