Amazing full length from Vienna's multitalented Gerhard Potuznik showcasing his darker side. Excellent song writing and vocal performances putting influences like Joy Division and T Rex into an entirely new context. 12 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Experimental, POP: New Wave Details: Finding inspiration from the darker side of electronic music of all eras, Gerhard Potuznik has put together a ground breaking album entitled the 21st Door. Gerhard Potuznik began making music in Vienna in the early 80s, initially as a guitarist. A staunch fan of all things dark and quirky, Gerhard is perhaps the hardest working man in electronic music. From production to songwriting to releasing his music in multiple genres in many countries, this man does it all. With an unfathomable amount of material already released (including his productions with Pulsinger Tunakan on Cheap as iO, and his production work for Chicks on Speed) it is his G D Luxxe project that is his strongest. With releases as G D Luxxe on Ersatz Audio, Breakin, and Suction, he is dedicated to taking his quality music to as many worthy outlets as possible, but his Factory obsessed full length for IT is a totally different story. Herein we find him exploring his obsessions while crossing so many boundaries: rock (a cover of T Rex included), IDM, EBM, Italian Disco broken English, electro, techno and beyond. This is fresh music from a true innovator. This is a record sure to cross boundaries and turn heads.
