Smart, singer/songwriter pop, with a splash of charm. 10 MP3 Songs POP: 90's Pop, POP: Party Pop
Details: The debut from Max Beizer is an eclectic ride through the mind of one of Nashville's brightest new talents. "I wanted to be able to look back in ten years and say that was me...then- I am this record, every sound and every word," notes the 21-year-old singer/songwriter. Musically, the ten-song release shows tinges of Pop, Rock, Funk, and even a tinge of Country. The album's humor and wit characterize the personality and charm that define Max's live shows and have led fans and critics to compare him to the likes of Ben Folds and Weezer. The success, thus far, of his independently released debut (on his own Club 98 Records) has helped to expand his fan base to new heights (and areas of the country). Along with penning all the songs, the Washington, D.C. native also played all the instruments on the album (except percussion). He also co-produced the album with Charles Yingling at the Moraine Music Group in Nashville, TN.
