

Schubert Symphony No 8 1st Movement Nso Fistoulari

DOWNLOAD HERE

This is a 1944 recording made by the National Symphony Orchestra conducted by Anatole Fistoulari. With excellent playing from the National Symphony Orchestra (led at this time by the great David McCallum) this performance is dramatic - this is a dramatic Symphony but too often we hear the two movements played at almost identical tempi which takes all sense of tension and excitement from it. Bob Briggs at Music Web International . Fisty was a thoroughly dependable musician who possessed a fabulous technique. He never gave a bad performance and this is a good one - especially the climax to the first movement, which is very powerful. His tempos in the second movement are a little swift, and while there is nothing exceptional in his performance, it is a fine example of the work of a greatly admired conductor.
