Details: Andrew Fortier was born and raised on Long Island, NY in a town called Kings Park, a small town no different than the thousands of small towns scattered across America. Andrew became a carpenter and developed a personal creative style that became highly sought after by people who cherished a romanticism of an era that so long ago was watered down by mass merchants of nostalgia who did not truly have a 'feel' for authenticity. This special and unique creative ability is felt by those who know Andrew's music. Everything about Andrew is a direct reflection of his soul. He never compromises with his beliefs. His musical creations are wondrous journeys into days gone by. He creates his music on a boat, a 1938 cabin cruiser which also contains his recording studio.
