His artistry feels timeless, his perspective universal. Music is Love, Life, Tears and Sweat.....Music is Arnold Jarvis - FRANCESCO from PERUGIA-ITALY Biography Throughout his career, Arnold Jarvis has been nothing but consistent - consistent when it comes to getting noticed. His is a brilliant career that began at the prime of his youth. While only a teenager, his voice and talent landed him front and center of the Baltimore Gospel Choir for whom he was a prodigious soloist. In 1984, modest academic pursuits led him to New York City. However, his talent and love of music did not lie dormant for long. He was drawn to music industry circles and was quickly embraced by them. He began to write, perform and record. Among the more notable gems from this early period in his career are his collaboration with Fonda Rae on Youre The Best, a song written by Lem Springsteen (Mood II Swing) and produced by Kerri Chandler; and his debut single, Take Some Time Out (Fourth Floor Records) produced by Tommy Musto and Yvonne Turner, which enjoyed huge underground and global success. In the 90s, he made it known that he meant business and showed audiences everywhere that he was a force to be reckoned with. First came his guest appearance on Satoshi Tomiies And I Loved You (FFRR, Polygram UK), produced by Grammy winner, Frankie Knuckles. Then followed the monumental classic, Inspiration (Freetown Records), produced by Kerri Chandler. He reached a new pinnacle and gained notoriety when he recorded Swing 52s epic songs, Color of My skin (FFRR/Cutting Records) and The Joy You Bring (Cutting Records), which he co-wrote. At around this time, he began touring the world and has since performed alongside the likes of Queen Latifah, Kenny Bobien, Barbara Tucker, Ultra Nate, Ce Ce Peniston, Loretta Holloway, Jocelyn Brown, and Byron Stingly, to name a few. The 21st century has seen increased impetus and creative output from Arnold. In fact, hes outdone himself and his already impressive legacy many times over. In 2000 alone, he released Learn to Give (Hysteria Records) produced by Eric Kupper; Life Goes On (MAW Records), the brainchild of his collaboration with legendary DJ/producer Louie Vega and vocalist Lisa Fischer; and Special Kind of Love (King Street Records) produced by Benji Candelario and remixed by Jazz and Groove. He then released his debut full-length album, Arnold Jarvis, The Collection (MFL Records), in 2002 and followed it with a string of extraordinary singles, including: Love Of My Life (West End Records) produced by the Basement Boys; Youve Let Love Slip Away (King Street Records) which reached the top 5 on Billboards Dance Sales chart; Make The Time which was written and produced by Blaze for Keep Hope Alive, a benefit CD for LIFE BEAT; and Take Good Care Of Me (Sole Channel Music). November 2006, Arnold will release his second full-length album, Love Life on Music for a Lifetime Records (MFL). It is a double CD extravaganza, a collection of new and classic tunes produced by the likes of George Mena, Franke Estevez, Greg Gauthier, Antoine Leguerne, Aaron Ross and the JuMo Brothers. Disc 1 is a blended album, edited by Albert Cabrera, and Disc 2 is mixed, courtesy of DJ/producer, Frankie Feliciano. Among the new and noteworthy titles is the groove-heavy track Justified Love, which is currently burning up the air and net waves. Upcoming singles include If I Stay (KIF Recordings), The One (Seasons Limited), and Never Cared which will be released in time for WMC 2007. Love Life is yet another testament to the astonishing power of Arnolds voice and his creative genius. He is an artist whos demonstrated permanence and relevance. His songs elevate and resonate within us all. Arnold Jarvis is undoubtedly one of the most important vocalists in the industry
