Details: Natalie Martin is a singer/songwriter and musician who has been performing and writing music since the age of four. Martin has entertained audiences at numerous venues, including House of Blues, Joshua Tree Music Festival, The Coach House and the Galaxy Theater - opening for such acts as Jada Pinkett-Smith, Eek-A-Mouse, Karl Denson's Tiny Universe and Particle. Her writing has won the admiration of critics and fans across Southern California, and her list of credits includes "Real Stories of the Highway Patrol," E! Entertainment Television and critically acclaimed films. Martin has worked extensively with people from Kenny G; Destiny's Child; Luther Vandross; Steely Dan; Rich Mouser (Weezer); and Bruce Fisher ("You Are So Beautiful") to name a few. In addition to singing, Martin also plays percussion/drums, keys and guitar. Her style reflects a wide array of influences, which range from jazz to classic rock to today's hottest neo-soul and pop artists.
