A music never before heard to the human ear. It can only be described as Industrial Futurism. Founded members are Montarg and Krayon their mission here is to influence the younger generation for what is to come and the older generation to put back what is gone. The lyrics to their songs have been translated, in order to be understood by humans, melodies have been designed to infiltrate the inner ear and frontal lobe area of the brain. On stage they express themselves with slow unexplainable movements not of this world. Industrial contraptions fill the stage with smoke and steam creating a haze that resembles an alien landscape. Helmets and Uniforms must be worn at all times to prevent radiation exposure. For those who have not experienced the enigma of Starbase 109 be warned Industrial Futurism might just be here to stay for a long time to come.
