Joey's vocal stylings are a mix of Cool jazzy R&B with a little Hip Hop spice. 10 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: R&B Rap mix, URBAN/R&B: Soul Details: Biography of Joey Blake Raised in a family of musicians and gospel singers, Joey's multiple skills include singer, producer, recording engineer, musician (piano, guitar, bass, percussion), composer, and dancer and choir director. He studied classical voice and vocal jazz arranging at Phil Mattson's School for Vocalist in Spokane Washington, developing his deeply resonant and expressive bass vocals. Joey is one of the founding and current members of Voicestra the a cappella ensemble created by Bobby McFerrin. He currently performs with the ensemble SoVoSo, a six member a capella ensemble that spun from Voicestra and has recorded produced three CD's for this group, (Precious a European release, and Bridges and Seasonings for the US). Joey's desire to teach is motivated by his need to give back to the music that fills his life with so much joy. Joey taught at the Oakland College Preparatory School as the contemporary vocal instructor. He served briefly as Director of Music at The Golden Gate Academy in Oakland California and was commissioned by the Oakland Youth Chorus to write and arrange for its professional touring ensemble, Vocal Motion. Joey has continued his teaching and is currently on staff at The Berkeley Jazz School as Conductor of the Berkeley Jazz School A cappella Ensemble. Joey also teaches and holds a board position for the Young Performers International organization where he continues his work with children. Joey was also a musician and vocalist in Kenny Loggins' "Conviction of the Heart" tour, and has appeared in Loggins' VH-1 special as well as Bobby McFerrin's 'The Garden" video as a dancer. He worked with Mickey Hart as a vocalist on Planet Drum and co-wrote selections from the Mondo Head CD. Joey also works with the organization One World Music, Presenting Team Building Workshops through music, with the hope that through this work the world will become more harmonious, within the work place and in our everyday
