Nobody including your competitors will know you have captured nearly all the front page for this niche. Nothing better than competing with yourself. After feedback from my customers, I do see that there are still a lot of people that dont fully understand the importance of choosing a niche wisely. One person was complaining that after using my products they were not getting traffic. They said there were plenty of backlinks but no traffic I enquired to which market they were targeting. Answer = Internet marketing !! DOH Of course the problem with this market is its HUGELY Competitive. close to 50 MILLION competing pages, not to mention each of those listings in the top 30 or so, have been extremely optimised and many people are fighting over these top positions. Ive decided to draft a report on how to find a good niche how to find products to promote, So please keep an eye out for it on petes-wsos.com/ make sure you are on the email list so you get the first emails about my future WSOs and can get in on the cheaper prices for my products.
