Criteria for judgments include the highest production standards, universal human values and a unique, individual quality that pushes the product a notch above others.  "The new album from guitar maestro Alan Goodman is a bold and innovative journey into the world of lullabies. The melodies are strong, lilting, and at times playful. The playing is spirited, full of the flamenco flourishes we have come to expect from Alan, and yet still understated enough to let the melodies sing. This is a 'wind-down' album meant not only for children but for anyone who needs an honest and engaging send off after a hard day..or night. Truly solo guitar music for all ages."
