The up-to-the-minute from present taking singer/songwriter Cindy Alexander a breathless excited outpour from an artist who will invoke to fans of Aimee Mann and Ani DiFranco as well as Joni Mitchell and Carole King. 10 MP3 Songs POP: Folky Pop, ROCK: Acoustic Angels Demons Songs Details: Born weighing only four and a half pounds but with the voice that could fill a stadium....her parents figured G-d had a plan, they just weren't in on the joke. They sent their little "peanut" to the "crying doctor" when she was 5 only to be told she just "wanted attention." By 20 she stopped crying but she had head aches. And one day, Cindy Alexander was so irritated and grumpy because the guy who lived in the apartment above her blasted his stereo so loud that it brought on her migraines - so finally she crawled out of bed and pounded on his door asking him to turn it down. Instead of fighting, Cindy and Paul Trudeau became best of friends and started a band. After a couple of years, a lot of gigs, and a ton of excited epiphanies, Cindy put out a cd which was a compilation of her demos: See Red. Most of the tracks were produced by David Darling (Boxing Ghandis/ Meredith Brooks/ Brian Setzer) and Paul Trudeau (the apartment mate with the booming stereo). See Red earned a nomination for Album of the Year by the L.A. Music Awards, who the year before crowned her Songwriter of the Year and nominated her for Female Vocalist of the Year. The "Peanut Gallery" (aka Cindy Alexander fans) grew exponentially and Cindy rode the wave of the internet, topping charts at mp3and becoming one of Amazon.com's best indie sellers. Cindy has also appeared on several soundtracks and compilations (Sugar Spice soundtrack on Trauma Records/ Chilled Sirens on Water Music Records/ Sunday Brunch on Treadstone Records) and her music has been featured in films (Here on Earth, Smokers, Sugar Spice, and numerous indies) and television (Party of Five),! all of which have served to increase her international exposure. The "Peanut" is relentless: she tours nationally and internationally, sharing the stage with such bands as The Bacon Brothers, Suzanne Vega, Bob

Schneider, Ben Taylor, The Bangles, Edwin McCain, Marc Cohn, Howard Jones, Dishwalla and the list goes on and on. Her performances have been called "crush inducing," "star quality" and the "best of the L.A. Music Scene," charming both audiences and critics alike. In 2003 she released her 2nd Cd, SMASH, also nominated for L.A. Music Award's Album of the Year. She was named CNET's Net Music Countdown Net Unknown of the Year (joining past recipients such as Michelle Branch) and was named Female Artist of the Year by Just Plain Folks, also taking Pop Song of the Year by the same organization ("I'm So Sad that You're Happy." 2004 was a big year. She recorded her third cd, Angels Demons late that summer with one producer, her longtime friend and collaborator - David Darling. As they were turning in the finished product to be mastered, presents rolled in: 2004 Indie Pop Artist of the Year - LA Music Awards 2004 Songwriter of the Year - Just Plain Folks Awards 2004 Best Female Vocalist - All Access Magazine Now in 2005, Cindy releases her best work to date and is ready to tour the world. ANGELS DEMONS is "a breathless excited outpour from an artist who not only has solidified her voice as a singer and songwriter, but has also ensured her place among the best of our modern day troubadours." (Yahoo Launch) A blend of adult alternative tracks that will invoke to fans of Aimee Mann, Sarah McLachlan, Ani DiFranco and classics singer/songwriters such as Joni Mitchell and Carole King. Indie music made from the heart and not a corporation. Fan club at Yahoo Groups: The Pnut Gallery
