Jazz versions of classic children's songs, a follow up to our popular first Bebop for Babies album. Because kids deserve hip music too. 12 MP3 Songs KIDS/FAMILY: General Children's Music, JAZZ: Jazz Vocals Details: It was so much fun making our first Bebop for Babies recording that we needed to do it again. Here is more music for babies, big boys, big girls and grown ups. We weren't sure whether to call it Bebop for Babies 2 or Bebop for Two Babies since this album is dedicated to our two big boys, JJ and Tho. And to Victor and Tania's baby Roy! Michel and I live in Montreal and so our boys speak and sing in French and English. I've sprinkled a little bit of French into this album, along with a light dusting of the language of my own babyhood, Dutch. And we've tossed in some bebop trumpet this time thanks to our guest Kevin Dean. May you swing and sing and dance along, Jeannette Biography Jeannette Lambert has been singing professionally since she was twelve years old. She records and performs jazz and improvised music internationally. Her latest cd of creative music, Sand Underfoot with special guest Paul Bley, is described in the All-Music Guide as full of delicateness, creativity and telepathic interaction. After a futile search for music that mixed the spontaneity of jazz sensibilities and great kids' songs, she came to the realization that she was going to have to do it herself. She enlisted the help of the band and her young sons JJ and Tho, and got to work. The level of musicianship is high and the songs are classics, performed with joy and respect. Jeannette Lambert, vocals Victor Bateman, bass, vocals Reg Schwager, guitar Michel Lambert, drums Kevin Dean, trumpet
