As a founding member of the country/blues/rock band the Dont Quit Your Day Job Players, he penned crowd favorites Brown-Haired Woman and When the Magic Goes Away, among others, and is constantly at work on new songs. An accomplished rhythm and lead guitarist, his Clapton-inspired leads can be found on numerous songs on his current release, The Pattern, including Move Down that Highway and Waiting for You. In addition he has also written a number of role-playing supplements for Atlas Games and for Hero Games, most notably Ars Magica Kabbalah.
