He was discovered by his producer, Rodale (Andy) Anderson while performing in a dancehall in Rochester, New York. Andy was so impressed with the youths talent, that he took him back to Jamaica to record his first LP Watchful Eyes. He was backed by the original Wailers Band, featuring the Barrette Brothers, Family Man on Base, and Charlie on drums. The LP did fairly well in Europe, but the lack of promotion hurt the sales and cheated Reggae purists from hearing a masterpiece. The LP Watchful Eyes went on to be critically acclaimed in Europe.
