A flowing, melodic fusion of everything from downtempo electronic to body moving grooves. 11 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Breakbeat/Breaks, ELECTRONIC: Ambient Details: The [MA]inline Project The [MA]inline Project could not be named any better than it is, for this music is like a mainline right to your heart. Only, instead of heartstopping drugs, its adrenaline pumping electronica. Be ready to get swept up in the mesmerizing talents of this artist, whose works of trance, house and drum and bass are set to sweep the dance world with vital energy and captivating textures. The [MA]inline Project prides itself on taking classic dance sounds and revitalizing them in interesting and new ways without sacrificing the perfect appeal of these developed genres with loyal fanbases. Totality It could be said that music is the totality of all things, experience in all its myriad aspects, every significant fraction of it, wrapped together into a form that is universally accessible and sublimely powerful. That, at least, is what this artist recognizes in music. And this artist is right. Without appreciation of the depths of the human soul to which music can extend, one cannot write music of the utmost creativity. Music makes me feel everything, says The [MA]inline Project. Electronica has a particular ability to capture human emotion and mold it, achieving both catharsis and uplift, the soul's orgasm, if you will. And The [MA]inline Project shoots for this effectiveness in every track. Flow Flow is vital to the way music functions and this is perhaps nowhere more noticeable than in the life of an electronic song, from where it starts, to the buildup, to the massive conclusion and every little bit in between. Flow is extremely necessary and must be monitored with the keenest attention to the art. The way a song flows has the ability to make me happy, sad or angry. The [MA]inline Project's attention to this detail brings great depth to the artist's creations. Soundtrack Music should capture something of the truth of life. In other words, it should be a soundtrack.

My music is the soundtrack of my life and emotions. With song, The [MA]inline Project is more than just offering entertainment and dance music; The [MA]inline Project is allowing a very personal peek into the artist's life. By extending this trust, the listener is able more deeply to appreciate the potency of The [MA]inline Project's stylings. All in All Music is almost a god, with its all in all quality and ability to transcend and speak to all people. Music is everything and everywhere. Indeed, it is the math of the human spirit (and math undergirds everything). The [MA]inline Project uses this to the fullest advantage, making tunes that are the fuel that I burn. Says The [MA]inline Project, It is what makes me tick. Creating a beautiful song is never enough. You have to keep making it, making it better and more meaningful and more intense. Keeping Up the Good Fight The artistic sweat and tears of crafting great music never stop flowing. Until The End of Time or August will soon find its release. I have no intention of ever taking a break from music. Every song I create makes me want to make another, and I never stop learning and expanding my abilities. The [MA]inline Project is working with A&R Select, the top independent A&R firm in Hollywood, CA. Review The [MA]inline Project's heady electronic conquerings make fools of many an aspiring DJ. To manipulate with this fine-toothed a comb a genre whose elements are far too easily abused and to do so with heavenly results ... well, what else is there to say? - A&R Select
