If You Dont Adopt Video Marketing Now, You Run the Risk of Rapidly Losing Market Share in Your Niche. Find Out How to Save Your Business Today. Dear Internet Marketer, As you browse other marketers sites, you have probably become aware that the strategies and technology that you employ are old. While your competitors use all of the latest bells and whistles to attract visitors, pitch to them, and retain them you are still using yesteryears software and tactics that you picked up from a marketing ebook written in 2003. While your strategies have proven sound and have successfully generated traffic for you, you are now starting to think that theyre not enough. And why should they be? If you have the opportunity to generate vast amounts of interested, willing buyers and you can tap it whenever you want, then what reason do you have for not doing so? None. Of course, you know that understanding that you can improve your business and actually improving it are two entirely different animals. Even though you want to use modern strategies and expensive software applications, you simply do not know how to access them and to employ them as traffic generation devices at a justifiable cost. Fortunately, this is okay. Rather than buying tons of expensive software and learning complicated traffic generation strategies

(which are unlikely to work, anyway), there's a simpler route: you can learn one modern strategy very well and employ it frequently and where appropriate to generate massive amounts of traffic. So what is this strategy? Video Marketing Unlike the strategies you are probably familiar with, video marketing is broadly applicable and is unlikely to fade at any point in the near future. For you, this means that investing dozens of hours in video promotions will yield products that last a long time and that will not cease to impress site visitors. Additionally, unlike many of the strategies you may have employed, video marketing has a great deal of depth. For instance, with article marketing, your options are severely limited; and, as a result, you are unlikely to generate an unexpectedly large amount of visitors on any given night. Additionally, with article marketing, your options are limited to a handful of commonly-used strategies for optimizing your articles and submitting them to places where they will receive the most exposure. Unfortunately, the amount of publicity you receive from them is unlikely to vary significantly, no matter how much effort you put into a particular article. This is not the case with video marketing. Where you had only a handful of options with other strategies, you now have dozens each of which are being expanded and improved over time. And where your exposure rarely varied in the past with other strategies, video marketing will enable you to create massive traffic explosions by leveraging your options correctly. But with all of this said, it is important to face the ugly facts: few marketers are successful with video marketing; and, if you're anything like them that is, if you don't know better you're likely to end up in a similar situation. So how can you learn better? Introducing: Video Marketing Secrets: How to Use Videos to Grow Your Business

Video Marketing Secrets That's right: there are several ways in which you can avoid common video marketing problems that Internet marketers encounter and one of them is reading an ebook that will tell you precisely how to do this. Video Marketing Secrets was created for this exact purpose: it will train you to go from being afraid to create video products to understanding fully how to script them, create them, capture them, and then market them in such a way that they will significantly improve your traffic generation efforts. Additionally, Video Marketing Secrets will go one step further by helping you to understand why it is that video marketing works for other people; and how you can unlock their secrets to transform your own business. But enough talk. Let's get down to the specifics.

What You Will Learn from Video Marketing Secrets The core of Video Marketing Secrets content is broken down into three parts each of which is designed to guide you through a critical component of the video marketing process. The first part of video marketing secrets focuses on preparing you to figure out how video marketing can benefit your business.

At first, this might seem like a trivial detail, but it isn't. One of the reasons why many marketers fail with various traffic generation techniques is that they are unable to figure out how to integrate them with the overall plan for their business. Instead, they simply see it as a tool for traffic generation, but don't take the time to think of who it will generate and how they will actually close the deal once those visitors are generated. Unfortunately for them, it is virtually impossible to be successful with any traffic generation technique if you don't use it in a context that is likely to work for your business. This is especially true for video marketing, since it has such great depth and offers a variety of traffic generation techniques. To respond to this depth, Video Marketing Secrets provides the following to readers:

- An overview of using viral videos and a projection of what they're likely to do for business owners.
- Strategies for determining whether or not they should employ viral videos to generate traffic in various situations
- Secrets for using viral videos regardless of their current business model to create bursts and spurts of traffic.
- Powerful strategies for embedding videos in sales letters and on squeeze pages to significantly bolster traffic generation.
- An explanation of WHY video marketing works well in certain situations and not as well in others; and how you can use this to your advantage.
- An overview of the benefits you can realize by adopting videos in your daily promotional efforts. And that's not all. In just the first part, you will also master
- How to strategically employ videos to maximize the perceived value of the products you release without significantly increasing their cost.
- How to inexpensively augment your current products with physical DVDs and other video products.
- How to use video to improve the image and profile of your business and to improve your credibility in general as a seller. And that's all in the first part alone. In the second part, you will learn about all of the equipment involved in the process—the understanding of which is critical to your success. For instance, you will learn
- How to select all of the components you will need to script, film, edit, and mass-produce video products or use videos as a sales mechanism. In short, you will have a full understanding of exactly what is required and how much it will cost (if anything).
- How to select the audio equipment needed to create and market your video products; and how selecting different audio equipment will have an impact on the quality of your products.
- How to use lighting, backdrops, and other elements to improve the quality of your videos, so that they appear more professional and give your business an air of credibility.
- How to obtain and use both free and paid Screen Capture Software, which you can use to create all of your videos.
- How to select Video Editing Software, so that you can improve the quality of your video products to provide greater value to your customers. But perhaps most importantly, you will also learn several things that will be indispensable if you don't want to star in these videos yourself:

- bullet How to hire voice-over talent, so that you do not need to read the script yourself.
- bullet How to use several little-known sources to hire inexpensive, but talented, actors to star in your videos.
- bullet How to outsource the entire project to a company that specializes in video products.
- bullet How to specialize in doing the tasks you're good at; and allowing other people to perform the ones in areas where you aren't so good.

And that's not all! You Will Learn How to Create Videos that Will Actually Get Results! Yes, that's right. You won't simply be bombarded with fluffy ideas that might work in theory. You'll actually learn the practical steps involved in creating videos that will accomplish your product or promotional goals and will earn money in the process. Working through the final part of Video Marketing Secrets will enable you to

- bullet Create videos that accomplish a narrowly-defined goal, so that they are effective in driving highly-targeted traffic to your site, which will ultimately result in sales.
- bullet Carefully select video lengths and script elements for your videos, so that your watchers will not get bored, confused, or overwhelmed.
- bullet Launch viral videos correctly and in a targeted manner, so that you reach the largest audience and so that your videos are resent to friends and family members of viewers.
- bullet Seamlessly integrate your video content into sales items to enhance pages and to encourage repeat visits and buying.
- bullet Secure joint venture partners who will also promote your videos, so that they get more exposure.
- bullet Setup and use a vlog effectively.
- bullet And much, much more!
