Details: I was born in Long Island New York back in 19XX (you dont really expect to know everything) and lived about twenty miles from the glorious Nassau and Jones beaches. My parents had a love for music and were always singing during their daily routines of running a household, thanks Mom and Dad for all those melodic duets; werent you romantic! In the early days both parents sang in church choirs and musicals which began my early exposure to music. Being gregarious souls, my parents developed lasting friendships with people I learned to call Aunts and Uncles and during backyard parties would enjoy one anothers company singing to the wee hours of the morning. When I reminisce of those times today, I realize that singing was and is a great catalyst for enjoying wonderful times with friends. Some years ago I started taking voice lessons and that endeavor has culminated in my first CD venture; Charles J-Crooner Classics. This CD is made up of classic Crooner Tunes, wonderfully written and very lyrical. Track one was chosen because I had read Dan Browns The Da Vinci Code and the references to the Mona Lisa made this classic a fresh choice. Track two, Danny Boy, was and is a favorite of several extended family members. The subsequent list of songs generally covers a romantic theme. Organized in a fashion that transports the listener from the darker side of romance i.e., betrayal A Blossom Fell, and pain Crazy, the songs continue to ascend to the ecstatic level of unconditional love exemplified in Till There Was You and More. What a starting lyric, More than the greatest love the world has known, this is the love I give to you alone. After building to heights of great love the CD finishes with an offering of hope Over the Rainbow, if happy little blue birds fly, beyond the rainbow, why oh why cant I As to the boat, what can I say; like the songs, its a classic! I hope you enjoy, Charles J-Crooner Classics. PS Try a
