Details: Dave Boholst is currently enlisted in the US ARMY. He joined the military since June 1, 2004 and began a strong foundation in life being a soldier. His passion is always in music and nothing could ever stop him from fulfilling his dreams as a musician. He has participated in a military competition such as the 2006 Military Idol and won the first place. Later on, as he ventured forth through his enduring hardships in his career as a soldier, a lot of wonderful blessings of opportunities came. One of them is getting a live interview unplugged performance in one of the hit radio stations in the Philippines called Jam 88.3 back in 2006. He has also released a single called "I Come" in the album "The Blend" which includes a lot of famous artists in the Philippines such as AKAfellas, Kilyawan, Bystanders. This album was produced by Star Records and Jam 88.3. The song is also being played in Christian Churches during the Praise Worship. Then another CD project produced by Jam 88.3 called "Another Christmas" was released and again he contributed a tagalog Christmas tune called "Unang Pasko" which then gained popularity in the Philippines. With the support of fans friends in March 2007, he decided to join the 2007 US ARMY Soldier Show in the ARMY Entertainment Detachment (AED) of Fort Belvoir, VA as a performer/bass guitarist/audio technician. He toured around the United States Korea and performed for over a hundred times until the end of October 2007. With his very own smooth yet raspy high-pitch voice with a blend of falsetto, many fans found his style of singing a heart melting experience. It's why he was selected to do the rendition of the songs "Lost Without U" by Robin Thicke "What Goes Around Comes Around" by Justin Timberlake. And everytime he comes out of stage the fans would start screaming. While getting ready to go back to his unit in Fort Polk, LA and prepare for deployment with the 10th MTN DIV, he's kept himself busy recording while on tour. He's currently working on an album called "Tell Me Everything" which will be soon released prior to his deployment. One of his single called "This Game" featuring Philip Harris aka P-NYCE is getting a radio airplay in Fort Drum, NY Ontario Canada. The album, being eclectic as it is contains different feel coming from hip-hop to the old 60s and a sweet touch of folk rock with the nice tune of the accoustic guitar.
