Details: POLARITY is the latest release by Western Australia based Ian Cocker and The Times. This collection of songs is packaged into an easy listening mix of genres. From the slightly jazz influenced opening track Through My Skin; to the earthy African inspired instrumental Oh Rick, POLARITY is a journey that showcases reggae (Low Key), soft rock (Go Jimmy); soul (My Lane); ballad (You Blue Me Away); and bluey tones (Pale Blue). There is not only a mixture of beats per minute, but the heart beat of a mature songwriter and a group of very experienced and adaptable musicians. POLARITY is both in-depth and light-hearted and displays numerous shades. The Times consist of a number of members who played with The Expression (Neville Dowling (keyboards/backing vocals/percussion/mandolin); Guy Slingerland (drums/percussion/backing vocals); Stephen Manassah (bass/digital percussion)). Their talents are supplemented by electric guitar virtuoso Trevor Jalla and the wonderful Sarah Risdon on backing vocals. Ian Cocker penned all twelve tracks , sings and plays guitar/ percussion. POLARITY was recorded in WA at Stephen Manassahs What It Is Group (WIIG) Factory. Manassah also mixes and co-produces the album with Cocker. POLARITY was mastered in Sydney at Turtlerock Mastering. Take the time to listen to this one. It is special.
