The group Maxx Luther was composed of three group members that met in 1997; Lil' Rice, June, and Spuddy. They did many shows and won many awards for their musical talent. In 1997, June moved to Houston, Texas where he continued to travel back to Alabama to perform with the group. The group still was not complete without a fourth member. They auditioned male talents to fill the position of the fourth member. In 1998, while working within the same company, June heard about a talented singer and songwriter named Red-D, but they still did not meet until a fire at the work place in 1999.
