Details: *HYIM is a formidable talent...spellbinding. --San Francisco Chronicle *HYIM's music holds a rare gravity, and it is clear that he possesses a grand vision. --Relix Magazine *HYIM is an emerging talent worthy of the designation of world musician. -New Times, Inc. Elation Description: Its like Coldplay on ecstasy. Elation, the first single from HYIMs third album, Sex In The Morning (an exploration of the sacred erotic), brings the listener an infectious groove, superlative piano playing, and a superb vocal delivery that carries you into a euphoric dreamscape. The song, also available as a music video, personifies elation-- telling a story of our human relationship with the ecstatic experience, leading the listener on a journey of crescendos and peaks of exuberance. Elations lyrics are ripe with irony enough about me, what do you think of me? and pure poetry She moves in, she knows, she seduces then she goes, shes elationit comes again, it soars, its no shoulder to cry on. You must see the gorgeous and sexy video (on HYIMs website) to further appreciate the song as well as HYIMs charisma and depth. The song Elation is a flawless feather in the cap of HYIMs catalogue of catchy, moving, meaningful, celebratory, beautiful, and captivating songs. Boogie and the beautiful, as HYIM says. HYIMs bio: Born in San Francisco and raised in Oakland, California, HYIM is a highly praised, acclaimed singer, song-writer, producer, pianist, performer, poet, and activist. He is the next generation's music "fusionisto." HYIM began playing piano at the age of three, studied sitar in India, clave in Cuba, classical guitar in New Zealand, Turkish rhythms, Persian poetry, the Torah, and whom critics say has "the voice of a young Sting." HYIM blends the rhythms of the world as chariots for his brilliant songs. HYIM provided the score for the short film, "Two Birds," directed by Juan Jose Rivera and winner of the San Francisco Latino Film Festival jury award for Best Emerging Latino Filmmaker 2006. Also in 2006, HYIM held a Five Day Fast and Chain Vigil for Peace and Education, calling into question the economic sense of investing in war as opposed to our children. In 2007, HYIM was invited to perform in Poland for the historic Memory and Tolerance event, and upon his return, he and his band played on the world famous Stern Grove Festival Stage in San Francisco. In 2007, HYIM continued to produce albums for other artists and write songs for his own upcoming albums in addition to touring. In 2008, HYIM scored a film for the United Nations about the World Heritage Sites and performed at a large charity event for children in Cali, Colombia. HYIM is now working on a number of production projects, film scores, and his own Collection of Ballads, Volume 1 due out in 2010, as well as performing. HYIMs Sex in the Morning album, an exploration of the sacred erotic, will be released late summer 2009. Album Description (due out in late Summer): Musically, Sex In The Morning is an unparalleled achievement illustrating an exceptional ability to fuse multiple and diverse popular music forms with a sensual theme, and catchy, dynamic, universal song-writing. In reviews of HYIMs previous two albums, comparisons have ranged from Coldplay, Peter Gabriel, Beck, The Fray, Ben Harper, Dave Matthews, Paul Simon and Norah Jones, to Sting, Manu Chao, and Bob Marley. Sex In The Morning features some of the top musicians of California, including four-time Grammy Award nominee John Santos. Lyrically, Sex In The Morning is a profound masterpiece in its cutting edge, sensual and playful poetic exploration of the sacred erotic. HYIM, dubbed the eclectic maestro, may just be carving out an evolutionary new pop/rock genre all his own with Sex in the Mornings alchemy of musical styles and its amorous and evocative lyrical theme. The album, Sex In The Morning, as a whole is upping the ante of popular music by a landslide through its lush, celebratory, sensual, and contortionistic genre-bending sonic experience that is truly unprecedented; not in musical scope nor lyrical mastery. HYIMs music is available digitally on all major online venues.
