Details: There may not be a more compelling and inspirational story. Marguerite is an accomplished lyricist, songwriter, producer and vocalist. A trained actress seasoned on the stages of The D.C. Back Alley Theaters, after performances in musicals Marguerite's friends and family, who all call her "Tina", encouraged her to pursue a career as a singer. In the late 1980's the talented songstress burst upon the Washington music scene with her hit single, "Hard Core Party", a high energy house jam that got air play with heavy rotation. Performing vocals and writing for a local group "E.U./Experience Unlimited" prompted even more motivation. While her superb writing skills and powerful vocal abilities are of popular demand the richness of her expressive creativity still remains somewhat un-tapped (smile). The sky seemed the limit for her blossoming career. In 1989 while recording for her debut album she began to have what she thought were migraines. After completing three songs for her album, she went to see a neurologist about her headaches. She was diagnosed with a brain tumor. For what this doctor thought was a tumor she has subsequently undergone six major open skull surgeries. While living through this tragic ordeal, Marguerite has managed to grow spiritually and emotionally, and through it all still singing, now that's a gift from God. As a result of her faith and will to carry on and succeed, her music and story of triumph over adversity has served to inspire a lot of people, namely, J. C. Hayward of WUSA Channel 9/CBS. In a "Good News 9" television interview with Marguerite Ms. Hayward referred to her as being "a miracle". Her soul stirring voice quickens and awakens new life in those who hear it. To hear her, be it ballad or up tempo, her soulful style makes you want to stand on your feet and groove to her smoothness while being moved with the lyrical content. Most people liken her to the late, great Phyllis Hyman also saying she has power in her voice like Chaka Khan shwew what a combo. So, are you ready for an experience to remember, are you ready for something to enhance your listening pleasures. Are you ready for Marguerite? Sure you are!
