It's pretty difficult to find someone who has not been affected by the adverse economy over the last few years. Thousands of people are still looking for work. Many others were forced to take jobs far below their qualifications and were happy to find them! If you are one of those people who lost your job, your pension and your dignity; and need to replace or supplement your income, maybe it's time to try your hand at something new and different. There is no end to the horror stories suffered by good people during the so-called recession. Our parents and grandparents might be able to add a few more about their experiences with the great depression. The irony is that now we are told it is "over." Try telling that to someone whose unemployment checks just ran out. Folks find themselves carving out niches using what used to be a hobby or an avocation and turning it into spendable cash in their pockets. Or, in our case, earning it one basket at a time. Maybe you have been the lucky recipient of a gift basket. Birthdays, holidays, showers and more are all good reasons to send a special basket of goodies. Many people are tired of the old standby of just sending flowers. Baskets can be just as special as the person sending one or fortunate enough to be receiving one. We've all probably tried to personalize a gift and done a reasonable job of it. This is a time when ingenuity rises to the forefront. Why not try your hand at starting your own gift basket business? What? You don't know anything about it? Au contraire' you do know something about giving and receiving gifts, right? Here's the formula: 1. Start with what you do know. 2. Add our fantastic tool. 3. Get ready to earn cash by the basketful! You don't have to be an expert. Our comprehensive guide teaches you everything you need to know to be successful.
