BLUES: Rockin' Blues, ROCK: Americana Details: Bill Campton has been writing and performing for over 30 years. With a musical background as diverse as the music he writes, Bill has served up another fantastic mix of sound. In this CD Bill has used a couple of more traditional instruments to build on the full sound he is known for. An usual use for the Banjo in Far Side of the Moon gives it a flavor that keeps drawing you back for more. Fans have said that Train Over Jordan and Seven Years have the sound and pull of the old Blues Men. I Wanna Have Fun and Rock Me Baby are two Rockabilly Tunes that will have you tapping your feet and dancing before you know it. He Never Met Me is a view down the dark streets where your mama told you to NEVER go. And ladies, Something's Burning comes from the soul of the man your mamas warned you about. Some of the best song writing and instrumentation ever recorded is on this album. Don't miss out. Bill's music is now being heard on several radio stations, most recently Armed Forces Radio Network.
