DEFINITION TIMELESS Over 20 years ago, fans were able to say "that's a Frazier song" no matter what style (and they vary quite a bit at times) you will find them saying the same thing today. 10 MP3 Songs FOLK: Power-folk, ROCK: Acoustic Details: LIFE'S LITTLE TWISTER Thursday - 5:30 PM. Life's Little Twister is just one of those songs. It was the Thursday before Easter. I gave up alcohol for Lent. Thoughts of someone so messed up they just don't see it, plow my head. It's me sometimes. Suddenly a song comes floating into the room. Why is this song here? I can't help it. I can't stop it. Words flow and feeling rise and fall. Something is dragging her down and I am not able to stop it. But I will go to the Garden again. I can make my own decisions. I decided to fail and didn't even see it. But I will go to the Garden again. Life used to have such a meaning. What is different. My decisions. My actions. I have denied my Lord again. And yet, I wake the next day and everything is coming up roses. I will go to the Garden again, one day never to leave. The song has floated away. Thursday - 5:45 PM. ++++++

Frazier Riddell was born in Canton Mississippi, in the 1960's, the son of a strong willed cotton farmer loving Christian mother. He shared a love for music that was shared along with his family. "My first music learned was on my grandfathers piano" says Riddell. "My brother Charles and sister Diane taught me Chopsticks, Heart and Soul, and another tune. All three songs were duets and we played them over and over till improvisation sprung up to avoid boredom! Looking back I realize I first learned about improvisation at age 5." Frazier took another step in his music when he took up saxophone in the 6th grade. He played alto and tenor sax throughout

High School. During these years Frazier's other brother Robert casually taught him some chords on the guitar. "I learned to play 'dueling banjos' and the few chords my brother taught me, really well. I never really took the time to learn much more until I was 20 years old" says Riddell. "I wasn't playing sax (yet) at college, but still loved music, and began to dive into guitar more and more." Another big happening must be mentioned according to Riddell. "I had a born again experience in 1981. I ain't trying to brag and I ain't trying to preach (although I do sometimes in my songs) but this changed the course of my life! After my experience with the Father, Son Holy Ghost, I realized I wanted to use my life pursuing something I loved. I asked my parents if I could change my major to Music. I was prepared for a no, but I got a YES!" It was at this time that Riddell began writing songs. Riddell can name many important musical influences. The Beatles, The Monkeys, The Partridge Family, David Bowie, Elvis Presley, Maynard Ferguson, Chicago, Bruce Springsteen, Randy Stonehill, Larry Norman, Ry Cooder, Steve Forbert, Tom Petty, Skynard, Neil Young, Pink Floyd, Steppenwolf, Styx, Boston, Yes, The Police, America, 10cc, John Mellancamp, and the list goes on and on..... "My strongest musical influences from the early years are the 3 B's: The Beatles, David Bowie, Bruce Springsteen" says Riddell. Since then, many people, places jobs, have come and gone. Riddell is now married to wife Susan and they have a son, Evan. "We wanted our son to grow up around Grandmamma, Granddaddy, Aunts, Uncles, 1st cousins, etc...." says Riddell. "So, in 1995 we moved to my hometown in Mississippi. These last 10 years have helped me renew my love for music hopefully they've made me a better writer. It's not easy, and I don't always enjoy it, but I'm beginning to see past the trees so to envision the whole forest." Riddell's newest release (The Naomi Tracks of which CD title is yet to be decided) will be out sometime in 2006 barring "Force Majeure".
