Cinematic. "Spacial Affect" is music that will remind you of soundtracks from the movies. Each song begins with an 'imagined' scene as it's inspiration. 10 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Adult contemporary, NEW AGE: Energy Healing Details: Each song draws it's inspiration from an imagined (or channeled...you decide) scene. These themes, as summarized below, are evolved with melody and rhythm structures that will sometime relax and at other times move you, as they simultaneously convey their uplifting 'higher frequency' message. Feel free to first read and then listen to several samples, as there is plenty of thematic variety. The Gift: The Gift of renewal from the gentle rain the calm before the storm lightning strikes, the thunders roll finally, the return to a purified tranquil state. Earth: The Earth is alive with the breath of wind and pulse of the moon driven oceans ebb and flow. Nature abounds. The tribal drum beat of life is a rhythmic trance in harmony for those who have ears to hear. Mirage: From the barren Earth the sand storm obscures everything. Then as the dust settles, the birds return and the mirage opens a glimmering view; an oasis that exists only in the imagination. Roma: You are the fly on the wall of the 13th Century Vatican. What do you hear? The church bells beckon. The sound of the organ fills the cathedral. The ceremony in a Gregorian chant unfolds with a mystical twist. Spacial Affect: Space is the final frontier. Through the Hubble telescope we see distant nebula. Shades of 2001: A Space Odyssey, our voyage tracks the melody of a star system. East Meets West: Rudyard Kipling is recorded as saying East is east and West is west and never the twain shall meet. That was then; today two worlds with their ancient traditions are blending of necessity. The world once thought to be flat is metaphorically becoming flat as the information age allows us to know all of it to see as if on a vertical plane to the ends of the earth. Atlantis Calling: There is evidence from before recorded time of a place and advanced civilization lost beneath the Atlantic Ocean. Could they have survived? Now encased in a crystalline sphere, embedded in the underwater ruins, transmitting their location to descendants of their progenitors from a galaxy light years away? Alien Reception: From the moon the aliens observe the earths emanating frequencies across the modern era. As they tune in to frequencies from different decades, what message about Earths inhabitants will they take away? Samurai Heart: The Samurai is the ancient Japanese soldier; guardian of the kingdom. Honor is their creed as this Samurai fights to the death. At that moment he suffers a fatal blow he is transformed in a twinkling of an eye and finds his life renewed a gentler place; a time of peace. The Karma of a valiant life has earned him a place in the sun. Goddess Ensura: Ensura is the name of one of 4 Goddesses with a mission and message of light. Ensura calls out for diverse and too often contentious mankind to play together as one symphony. Her music evokes a dance of love and harmony. About the artist-- I'm Mike Balzotti and no newcomer to the world of music--evidenced by a first-time release in 2002 of an album that I recorded with a group known as The Bards in 1968! (Go to bardsmusicfor more on that story and an amazing CD). I performed for many years, and was fortunate to have a few "charted" records. Through the years a major sustained interest has always been the recording studio the ability to "make a thing"-- to develop musical ideas and make them come alive. In today's "digital world" there is the "vanity" of being able to compose, perform, arrange, engineer, produce, publish and distribute globally--essentially by yourself. As a young man who had to "sign his life away" for the opportunity to simply record in a professional environment (Capitol Records) 35 years ago, frankly, I am amazed that this is possible. Anyway, the love of music, the desire to "listen" for those melodies--then, to "manifest" them, is to me a "spiritual experience"--a great joy passion.....and something I truly hope "resonates" with you! Namaste..... People who are interested in should consider this download.
