In the beginning of her career her teachers consisted of Linnetta and Charlie Harper, which happens to be her lovely parents. They taught, trained, and inspired her, and most of all loved her through the trials and tribulations she encountered. During a conversation with her grandmother, she told her to Never Forget the Hymns. Upon attending college, she researched hymns that laid the foundation of gospel music. This is how the project "Don't Forget About th Hymns" came to life.
