Hailing from the Motor City, these three red-hot broads deliver an unending and brutal onslaught of supercharged rock n' roll and continue to systematically fuel the seemingly insatiable passions of frantic fans everywhere. Recently, Broadzilla debuted the release of their second CD "Lady Luck," to a sold out crowd of 600+ in their hometown of Detroit Rock City. With the first pressing and second pressing of that CD, immediately sold out, the girls are enjoying its rapid third run and are gearing up for its fourth pressing. The bands first CD release "Broadzilla vs. the Tramp-O-Lean," quickly sold-out of its first and only pressing in record time. WRIF 101.1 FM, Detroit's #1 rock station, has been playing Broadzilla religiously and championing their powerfully ripping tunes since the bands inception. In 2000 the band caught the attention of Fred Durst from Limp Bizkit, who invited them to perform opening night of the Limp Bizkit Cypress Hill tour in Detroit. This high-profile gig landed them an interview with Durst that aired on MTV as well as various mentions in Spin and Rolling Stone. Broadzilla has also enjoyed small features in Alternative Press, Rockrgl and The Netherlands' Metal Maidens. At the 2000 Detroit Music Awards, the girls were honored to be nominated for Best Hard Rock Band and the following year, Broadzilla overwhelmingly won the award and title of Best Hard Rock Band. That same year, the group was invited to perform at the massive awards ceremony in the company of some of Detroit's best known acts, including the infamous rap group D12, featuring Eminem, and were handed the coveted award trophy by Kenny Olsen of Kid Rock's Twisted Brown Trucker Band. In April of 2003, Broadzilla again took home the highly regarded award for Best

Hard Rock Band at the annual Detroit Music Awards, receiving that prestigious title for its third year in a row. Venturing out of D-town regularly to perform throughout the Midwest and the East and West Coasts, Broadzilla has opened for such acts as the Deftones, Joan Jett, L7, the Sex Pistols, the Lunachicks and Skid Row among many others. In 1999 Broadzilla was invited to perform as part of MP3.com's Music and Technology Tour where they performed along side the Goo Goo Dolls. Earlier this year, a handful of selections from "Lady Luck" were picked up by XM Satellite Radio's Unsigned Band Channel and have been running in nationwide rotation ever since. The group was also featured in a live interview on the station that led to the addition of yet another song, this one from a new single released on B4 Records, a label run by producer Mike E. Clark, known for his work with the rap group Insane Clown Posse.

Broadzilla is constantly on the road, touring in support of "Lady Luck" on Diamond Star Records, the bands own imprint. Of course, it goes without saying, that none of the girl's accomplishments have simply been handed to them. All the numerous accolades have been painstakingly earned exclusively through years of hard work, dogged perseverance and an iron will of determination to succeed. All by themselves, this genuine DIY band has managed to not only break down and demolish many formidable barriers, but has also worked aggressively to overcome the all too typical stereotypes rampant throughout the music industry at all levels. RUN FOR YOUR LIVES!!! Broadzilla is a relentless, uncompromising, unstoppable and monstrous maelstrom of destructive and debilitating decibels, rip-roaring through your town and leaving it an utterly annihilated, devastated and smoldering ruin.
