A fast, hard, elaborate metal/punk hybrid, abrasive enough to leave large, ugly bruises, but with just enough melody not to break the skin. 13 MP3 Songs METAL: Thrash/Speed Metal, ROCK: Punk Details: Fast, hard and abrasive enough to leave large ugly bruises, but with just enough melody not to break the skin. The elaborate music of Cerebral Noize is a seemingly ridiculous, yet somehow tasty hybrid of heavy metal and punk rock mixed with sprinklings of other eclectic influences. Crossing over the traditional bounds of various forms of hard music, the debut release, Process, is both sophisticated and furious, yet lighthearted with moments of slower melodic sections to soothe listeners from the onslaught of noize. The entire CD can be heard at cerebralnoize.com. The inspiration to record the debut Cerebral Noize CD, Process, began in early 1995 with Cale Burr's vision to make an aggressive metal / punk hybrid musical curiosity that would intertwine and expand the creative boundries of both genres. After hundreds of hours of painstaking attention to every minute detail of the music and packaging, Process was finally finished and released in November 2002. Cale is also a professional graphic artist, responsible for all of the artwork and design of Cerebral Noize. See caleburrfor his art portfolio.
