I have put together a wonderful and exciting collection of children songs called FUNONOMICS. FUNONOMICS is a great educational tool that uses music and melody to teach children how to count in both in English and Spanish, the Alphabet, the difference between left and right and so much more. Its simple melodies and catchy phrases grabs the child attention making learning both exciting and fun. FUNONOMICS was inspired by my infant son Silas Jr. I wanted to create songs that were fun and educational so that learning would be exciting for him. After seeing his reaction and how much he loved them I felt the urge to share this great educational yet fun tool with the whole world. People who are interested in should consider this download.
